Fixed Deposits

With Premature Withdrawal option: In case a Fixed Deposit is withdrawn prematurely, the Bank may not pay all the interest accrued from the time of opening the Fixed Deposit up to the time of its premature withdrawal. Additionally, there is a premature withdrawal fee of 1% flat, payable on the principal amount and interest (on the amount considered by the Bank to be payable as interest), subject to protection of only the principal amount and not the interest accrued.

If the deposit sought to be withdrawn is held for a period for which deposits are offered by the Singapore Branch (3, 6, 12, 18, 24 months and so on)	If the deposit sought to be withdrawn is held for a period that falls between two tenures for which deposits are offered by the Singapore Branch	If interest has been paid out
Interest is calculated at the rate applicable for deposits of such tenure (as existing at the time of opening of the deposit sought to be withdrawn), less the premature withdrawal fee of 1% flat on the principal and on the interest, subject to protection of only the principal.	Interest is calculated at the rate applicable for deposits of the shorter of the two tenures (as existing at the time of opening of the deposit sought to be withdrawn), less the premature withdrawal fee of 1% flat on the principal and on the interest, subject to protection of only the principal.	The premium is adjusted against any payment which is due to the customer. This would mean that even in cases where the principal is protected, the amount returned could be less than the principal to the extent of the interest already paid out to the customer.
In this example, if he/she is closing the deposit prematurely in exactly one year, since the Singapore Branch offers one year deposits, the customer will get the rate that one year deposit offers (when he/ she had opened his/her two year deposit) less 1% withdrawal fee on the principal and interest.	Hence, in this example, if he would break the deposit in 15 months, the customer would still get the rate which a one year deposit offers (when he had opened his two year deposit) less 1% withdrawal fee on principal and interest

Without Premature Withdrawal option: The Fixed Deposit cannot be closed by the depositor before expiry of the term of such deposit. However, the Bank may allow premature withdrawal of these deposits in the following exceptional circumstances:

In the event of any direction from any statutory and/or regulatory authority or deceased claim settlement cases.

In the event of premature withdrawal of these deposits under the above mentioned exceptional circumstances, the Bank will not pay any interest on the principal amount of the deposit. Any interest credited or paid up to the date of such premature closure will be recovered from the deposit amount.
